HEADLINE

Dr. Mark Studin has been confirmed a “MRI Qualified” by the Academy of Chiropractic

Dr. Mark Studin, a chiropractor located at 207 Hallock road, Stony Brook NY has been confirmed as a “MRI Qualified” by Cleveland University Kansas City, a Federally recognized chiropractic institution. Dr. Studin has undergone rigorous training related to MRI, spine and trauma and is now formally qualified to either diagnose or manage all spine cases.

According to Dr. Mark Studin, the clinical director for the Academy of Chiropractic, “Dr. Studin joins an elite group of chiropractors nationally that that has completed an extensive program in triaging the injured, MRI spine and extremity interpretation, and managing the injured. This recognition, which represents a level of clinical training, certifies that Dr. Studin is the best of the best through clinical excellence and I am proud to add him as our newest member.”

Dr. Studin continues “as research evolves, the current scientific literature verifies that chiropractic, when utilized as the first provider significantly reduces disability in the workplace, overall pain, prevents recurring injuries and improves function in almost every aspect of life. Equally important, the scientific literature concludes that when chiropractic is considered as a first option for spine care, the need and use of opiates decreases, which contributes to help eradicate the opiate crisis in our society.”

Dr. Studin reports that he has professional relationships and collaborates with a vast array of medical surgeons and physicians as part of the team that manages spine cases as clinically indicated. His curriculum vitae can be found at www.USChiropracticDirectory.com.
